COMMUNITY CONSERVED AREAS AND FRAMEWORK FOR MANAGEMENT PLANS

(Asangla Imsong, DPRO, Kohima)

Communities in different parts of the world continue to have a critical linkage with their natural ecosystems and many have conserved the resources for a variety of purposes; spiritual, cultural and economic. These protected areas, commonly termed Community Conserved Areas (CCA) range from sacred groves and landscapes protected for centuries, to more recent initiatives at regenerating and protecting forests: conservation of bird nesting or wintering sites, protection of sea turtle nesting beaches, safeguarding ecosystems against 'developmental' threats, and others. These areas where communities exercise their governance through customary laws and other effective means perform critical ecological functions and provide immense ecological, social, cultural and economic benefits.

Many nations have legitimized CCAs under their Protected Area Systems. IUCN vide resolution 4.049 in its 4th World Conservation Congress in 2008 recalled earlier resolutions which provide a clear direction on the need to recognize and support "natural or modified ecosystems, including significant biodiversity ecological services, and cultural values, voluntarily conserved by indigenous peoples and local communities through customary laws or other effective means"; and also recognized the 2007 United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, and stressed the 2004 Programme of Work on Protected Areas of the Convention on Biological Diversity (CBD) which recommends that Parties to the CBD should recognize and support Community Conserved Areas.

Northeastern India, on account of richness and uniqueness of its biodiversity elements, has been recognized as one of the global biodiversity hotspots. The region with its rich forest resources and traditional practices as well as laws that also offer security of tenure have long made their mark on the Community Conservation map of our country. However, the biodiversity and natural resources of the region also face threats of exploitation and pressure from various quarters including plans for development. In such a scenario, there is a need to mainstream conservation alongside the dominant notions of 'development' so as to integrate concerns of 'sustainable use' (of the resources) and ensure 'livelihood security' of the people.

In the last four years, Nagaland Empowerment of People through Economic Development (NEPED) in collaboration with SACON and supported by Sir Dorabji Tata Trust (SDTT) have facilitated the formation of over two hundred and fifty Community Conserved Areas in villages and important forest areas of Nagaland. The communities during the period have resolved to protect and conserve the CCAs to restore the ecology and the ecosystem functions and services. Foundation for Ecological Security and NEPED have entered into a partnership to strengthen the conservation efforts in Nagaland. During the initial discussions with the CCAs and NEPED, the need for assistance in preparing the management plans for these areas have emerged. FES in partnership with NEPED has initiated the preparation of a management/conservation plan for one CCA to comprehend various issues involved in developing such plans. The perceptions of CCA Management plan vary across various stakeholders. Some of the mental models are :

- A CCA management plan could center on the significance of the area and how that is to be retained and if needed restored in the future.
- A management plan could incorporate a logical development progressing from understanding of the history and fabric of the area, into an explicit assessment of the significance, and then, into the formulation of principles and policies for retaining that significance.
- By looking at the factors affecting significance in the past, present and in the future, one could create a logical basis for moving from significance to conservation planning.
- Or a combination of the above.

While at this stage, no definite framework/ outline of such a plan has evolved, there is a need to bring together experiences of evolving conservation/ management plan from across the country as well as share the experiences so far in the context of CCAs of Nagaland.

Towards this, FES in partnership with NEPED will be organizing a two day workshop at Kohima on 17 & 18 July 2012 followed by a day of field trip to T(D)GZ for interested participants.

Objectives of the workshop:

The workshop seeks to bring together practitioners, researchers, academia, and policymakers from across the country and community members from CCAs with the objectives towards

- a) Evolving the broad principles in the context of developing the Management Plan.
- b) Developing a framework for the Management Plan that can be replicated with appropriate changes in similar socio-ecosystems.

Nagaland Empowerment of People through Economic Development (NEPED) has been working in Nagaland for over 15 years towards addressing issues of poverty through strengthening and livelihood generation as well as encouraging partner communities to establish CCAs for better protection of the rich biodiversity.

Foundation for Ecological Security (FES) works towards locating forests and other natural resources within the prevailing economic, social and ecological dynamics in rural landscapes and in intertwining principles of conservation and local self-governance for the protection of the natural surroundings and improvement in the living conditions of the poor. By working on systemic issues that can bring about a multiplier change, FES strives for a future where the local communities determine and move towards desirable land-use that is based on principles of conservation and social CCAs find a resemblance to the arena of the organization's work which helped influence FES' regional office in Guwahati, initiate its field intervention in Nagaland.

FACTS OF TOBACCO

(K. Zeliang, Journalist, DIPR)

Tobacco is derived from the plant called nicotina tobacum or nicotina rustica. It was cultivated 8000 years back. It was brought to India by the Portuguese traders in 17th century.

Consumption: Tobacco is consumed in two forms that is smoke (cigarette, bidi, bir, cigars, chutta, dhumti, chillum, hookah, hookli etc) and smokeless (pan with tobacco leaves, talab, ghukha, pan masala, khaini, rajnighandha etc). Again there are two types of consumers (smoking) viz active smoker and passive smoker also known as second hand smoker. The effects of tobacco on passive smoker is same with that of active smoker. India is the 2nd largest consumer and the 3rd largest producer of tobacco in the world. 57% of male and 10.8% of female (NFHS-3) in India consume tobacco in some form or other. North-eastern State recorded to be the highest consumers of tobacco of which Nagaland records 67.9% male and 28.1% female use tobacco. Again there are 36.60% of school children smoking and 41.1% of school children are tobacco users smokeless.

Tobacco related facts:

1. Globally tobacco kills 5.4 million people every year.
2. Each year 8-9 lakh Indians die due to tobacco related diseases.
3. More than 2200 Indians die every day due to tobacco use.
4. India has the highest number of oral cancer cases in the world and 90% of oral cancer are tobacco related.
5. 40% of oral cancers in India are due to tobacco use.
6. By 2010 nearly 1 million people died because of smoking.
7. 70% of smokers who will die will be between the age of 30-69 years.

CENSUS 2011 BOOKS RELEASED

The Directorate of Census Operation Ministry of Home Affairs, Kohima Nagaland released books of the Provisional Population Total Paper 2 Volume II of Nagaland for 2011, Housing Tables, Census 2011 and House-listing Data Sheets of Census 2011. The Book release function was held at Kohima on 6th July 2012 where Nagaland Chief Secretary, Lalthara, Chief Information Commissioner Lalhuma IAS (Rtd) and Additional Chief Secretary & Development Commissioner Alemtemshi IAS released the books.

Chief Secretary Lalthara who formally released the book of Housing Tables Census 2011 said that as the time grows census has becoming more detailed and complicated as it has also come down to house listing which provides very important data to town planners, businessmen, NGOs. He also thanked the DCO, Hekali Zhimomi IAS and officers for their achievement in the Census Operation and also went on to say that he is fortunate as a Chief Secretary for having the best team of officers with him.

Chief Information Commissioner Lalhuma IAS (Rtd) who released the book on Provisional Population Totals, Paper 2 Volume II while giving a short speech congratulated the Census Department for their achievement. Terming the Census 2011 as a spectacular achievement, he said that it is like a breath of fresh air which was made possible by team work and vision provided by administration headed by Chief Secretary and officers with involvement of civil societies, NGOs etc.

Additional Chief Secretary & Development Commissioner, Alemtemshi Jamir who released the book on Houselisting Data Sheets of Census 2011 in his short speech said that 2011 Census involved a lot of political will, civil societies and NGOs. He said that Census is very important as mankind started to count to measures on how much food they have, how many people are around and how to distribute among themselves for this very existence. He also said that Census has become so important and complicated that the normal people do not understand and pay attention to but for planners and policy makers census is an important ingredient to find out what is needed and where. If the planners and policy makers do not give attention to census the society will go haywire, he added.

During the programme powerpoint presentation on Provisional Population Totals, Paper 2 Volume II and House Tables, Census 2011 was given by ADCO, Imkongnungsang and DCO, Hekali Zhimomi respectively. The programme was chaired by Deputy Director Nungsang Aier and the vote of thanks was proposed by SI-M. Peseyie. While giving the overview, he explained that the role of NSBTC is to monitor the various blood banks related programmes and activities in the State. He also cited that Nagaland needs to extensively spread awareness on voluntary donation of blood and also stated that out of 8 blood banks in the State, only Kohima, Dimapur and Mokokchung are fully functional due to poor infrastructure and electricity.

In his presentation, he indicated that Advocacy and Awareness Programmes on Voluntary Donation of Blood were held with 10 Directorates in the State in the year 2011-12. Dr. V. Khamo the MO i/c Blood Bank Kohima pleaded for increased participation of the media as the media plays a very important role in spreading advocacy, awareness and sensitization of the people, to which AIR, Kohima readily agreed to respond if informed on time.

The Annual Action Plan discussed during the meeting included increased Advocacy and Awareness Programmes with all sections of the society, planned for increased Voluntary Donation of Blood; inclusion of representative from the Department of Planning sought; AIR and DDK Kohima on their part agreed to play a more active role in sensitization of the public through their Radio and TV programmes like Swast Bharat and the Commissioner and Secretary, H&FW and Chairman NSACS and the Deputy Secretary (Finance) also called for increase in the States share of the budget allocation. The meeting was attended by representatives from Finance, PHQ, Red Cross, NHAK and media.

AHoDs AND HoDs MEETING HELD

A meeting of the AHoDs and HoDs was held in the Secretariat Conference Hall on 11th July 2012 under the chairmanship of the Chief Secretary, Nagaland Lalthara IAS to chalk out the programme for Independence Day.

Besides the schedule programme, the Chief Secretary informed all the Departments that Departmental write up for the Governor's speech should be as brief as possible and to highlight the policies and achievement of the Department in one paragraph at the most.

A presentation was given by the Account General (AG) Nagaland, regarding submission of pension papers to AG office/collection of confirmation letters/submission of list of Government servants due to retire within one or two years ahead and collection of authorised PPO. He highlighted the initiative of various departments in processing pension papers.

Chief Secretary, Lalthara said that Government servants due for retirement need not be issued release orders before the due date, since this may affect the office functioning in the department and suggested that a kind of provisional certificate or No Objection Certificate may be issued so that based on that, the retiring government employees can obtain the necessary papers to process their pension case.

Besides the power point presentation an interactive session was held between the AG and the State officials in regard to pension cases and delay in issuing pay slips, where ways and means to ease the cases and to avoid confusion were discussed.

Additional Chief Secretary & Development Commissioner, Alemtemshi Jamir IAS informed the house to submit the works plan at the earliest to avoid lapse of fund.

FORMER NAGALAND GOVERNOR K.V. KRISH- NA RAO FONDLY REMEM- BERS NAGAS

Former Governor of Nagaland, K. V. Krishna Rao still fondly reminisces about the people of Nagaland. In a letter addressed to the new Director of Sainik Welfare and Resettlement, Government of Nagaland, Brig K.K. Roy Choudhury, SM, VSM, a copy of which was released by Raj Bhavan, Kohima, the former Governor said that he has great appreciation for the Nagas, having served with them while in the Army and as Governor.

Congratulating Brig K.K. Roy Choudhury on his new assignment, the former Governor said that as Director he can do a lot to help the people of Nagaland. 'While the Nagas did well as part of Assam regiment for many years, their performance in the naga Regiment which we specially raised has been remarkable. Both the serving and retired personnel certainly need due attention and care by the Nagaland Government, as well as Center,' the letter quoted.

The former Governor also conveyed his warm regards to the many political leaders, members of the administration and other people who he was sure continue to remember him. 'My best wishes are always with the people of Nagaland,' he said. The new Director of Sainik Welfare and Resettlement, Government of Nagaland, Brig. K.K. Roy Choudhury, SM, VSM served as ADC to K. V. Krishna Rao when he was the Governor of Nagaland.

General (Retd.) K. V. Krishna Rao (born July 16, 1923) is a former Chief of Indian Army and a former Governor of Jammu & Kashmir, Nagaland, Manipur and Tripura. He was sworn in as Governor of Nagaland on June 13th 1984. Among the many initiatives he had taken up while in Office as Governor of Nagaland, he had prevailed upon the Home Minister and the Prime Minister to obtain approval of the central Government for the setting up of the Nagaland University. The then prime Minister, Rajiv Gandhi laid the foundation stone of the University at Lumami on October 5, 1987. The Governor was also instrumental in getting the North East Zone Culture Center (NEZCC) established in Dimapur. Nagaland also celebrated the Silver Jubilee of the Statehood on December 1, 1987 in the august presence of the then Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi.

Gen. Rao was commissioned into the Indian Army in 1942. During the 1971 war, his division captured the Sylhet area and liberated north-east Bangladesh. He retired as Chief of the Army Staff in 1983 and was appointed Governor of Nagaland, Manipur and Tripura in June 1984, leaving all of these posts by the time of his transfer to Kashmir in 1990.

CONSULTATIVE MEETING OF CABINET SUB-COMMITTEE ON PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS HELD

A consultative meeting of the Cabinet sub-committee on Petroleum and Natural Gas with Tribal Hohos and civil societies of Nagaland, hosted by Cabinet Sub-Committee (CSC) was held at Kohima on 13th July 2012.

(L) Minister for Planning & Coordination, Vety & A.H, T.R. Zeliang speaking at the Consultative Meet on Petroleum & Natural Gas at Kohima on 13th July 2012.

Minister, Planning & Coordination, Veterinary & Animal Husbandry Parliamentary Affairs and Convenor, CSC on PNG and Planning, T.R Zeliang while addressing the meeting said that they are gathered to create a milestone in the democratic polity of the State. He said that the second phase of the Cabinet sub-committee had to deal with the toughest task of finding out a proper and workable policy framework for the effective implementation of the special provision for the Nagas of Nagaland state. He said the statutory system consists of elected legislators, Council of Ministers, the legislative Assembly and the executive machinery whereas the Naga Customary system consists of the landowners, clan, tribes at the village level and the Tribal Council of respective tribe namely the Hohos and the Apex body of Naga Hoho.

The Minister said that in order to work out an effective policy frame work, the CSC has studied the systems in practice all over the world to find out under what conditions a scheme of Exploration and Production is successful in tribal land and further informed that the practices were short listed.

He also emphasized on the developed policy of the State to address the core issue of restoring and retaining the special constitutional safeguards and powers to the Nagas by means of Article 371 A.

The Minister informed that on 10th March 2011, the Union Minister in Charge of petroleum and Natural gas on the floor of the Lok Sabha stated that the Nagaland State government alone has the regulatory powers in the oil and natural gas. He also said that the ownership of the land and its resources should never be disturbed if Nagas wish to live with identity and dignity in order to develop our State in a better way. He further added that the only effective method that can safeguard the Naga rights and the State government is by way of landowners exercising their ownership right in a constructive way.

Draft for discussion on Economic Advisory Services - State Government of Nagaland such as Institutional Assessment Report and sustainable economic development model was brought by Grant Thornton Advisory Private Limited 13th July 2012. Officers from the private Limited explained an overview of some Global oil policies best practices and the need for modalities and economic modal three options, which is pure Revenue Sharing Model, revenue share with land access charge and profit sharing model.

Home Minister Imkong Imchen while speaking at the meeting informed the hohos and civil societies to mandate as they trust them and go down to the villagers to build more relationships. He replied to some of the members who have raised the questions and said that issues of the oil license is the authority of the government not land owners.

Minister for Forest, Environment, Ecology and Wild Life, Excise, Parliamentary Secretary for Geology & Mining, Irrigation & Flood Control, Boarder Affairs Y.Patton, Parliamentary Secretary for Transport & Communication, Mechanical Engineering, P. Dako Phom and Advisor, Information Technology Vikho-o Yhoshu and other Government officials present at the meeting. Several hohos representatives also shared their views to find out acceptable beneficial modalities with the Government of Nagaland. Member Secretary CSC on PNG H.K Khulu delivered the welcome address.

KGBV WORKING TOWARDS WOMEN DEVELOPMENT

Kasturba Gandhi Balika Vidyalaya (KGBV), a residential school for girls aspires to be a successful programme under the patronage of Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan (SSA). A program launched by the Government of India, KGBVs are residential schools at the upper primary level for girls belonging to the educationally underprivileged group of the ST, SC, OBC and other minority group. With 11 KGBVs functioning in the state viz., at Tobu, Chen, Chessore, Shamatore, Thonoknyu, Noklak, Kiphiri, Wakching, Phomching, Yongyah and Namching, the hostels work towards promoting the academic, vocational and overall development of the girls.

Keeping in mind the prevalence of gender disparities in rural areas and among disadvantaged communities, KGBVs have been introduced in areas where as per enrolment trends, the enrolment of girls at upper primary levels are significantly lesser. Timely seminars are held to ensure that the hostels provide access and quality education to the girls. In fact, a recent such seminar was organized by the Khamniungam Menyiu Hoikham at Noklak where the parents of the students were synthesised on pro- education parenting skills and the students on the central theme of obedience. The seminar also imparted various vocational activities like weaving, tailoring and knitting. It also inculcated a first of its kind cultural activity whereby folk dances, songs and folklores highlighting on the community was conducted. A medical camp was also organized where a special mention may be made to the enthusiastic participation of Dr. Imti Kichu Ao who took the time to examine the general health of the students and identifying any discrepancies in their well being.

The functioning and response of the KGBVs have been very encouraging indeed. The participating NGOs along with the SSA officials, resource persons and guest participants have executed a commendable program and such positive response in the future is anticipated.

WORKSHOP ON CCAs AND FRAMEWORK FOR MANAGEMENT PLANS

A two-day workshop on Community Conserved Areas (CCAs) and Framework for Management Plans was held at Kohima from 17th to 18th July 2012. The workshop was organized by NEPED and Foundation for Ecological Security (FES).

Commissioner & Secretary,

Commissioner & Secretary Government of Nagaland Temjen Toy IAS speaking at the two-day workshop on CCAs at Kohima on 17th to 18th July 2012.

Government of Nagaland, Temjen Toy IAS in his inaugural speech said that NEPED has been in existence for more than 15 years and they started extending their services by planting trees in jhum lands, planting cash crops and subsequently trying out micro financing, strengthening jhum, addressing climate change and facilitating the Community Conserved Areas. He said that the communities have been doing a great ecological service to mankind by conserving forest but there is a lot to be done for continuity. He said that the workshop has been organized at the right time to chalk out management plans, which needs to be formulated according to the needs of the different areas.

While acknowledging the traditional knowledge of the villagers, Temjen Toy said that we need to empower them with ideas and act as facilitators. He said that there is need for scientific inputs keeping in mind the conditions of the region. He hoped that something tangible would come out of the workshop and wished the participants and the resource persons the very best.

Executive Director, FES, Jagdeesh Rao gave a briefing on the workshop objectives where he said that there is a need to mainstream conservation alongside the dominant notions of development so as to integrate concerns of sustainable use (of the resources) and ensure livelihood security of the people. NEPED and FES have initiated the preparation of a management/conservation plan for one CCA to comprehend various issues involved in developing such plans. He further underlined the need to bring together experiences of evolving conservation/management plan from across the country as well as share the experiences so far in the context CCAs of Nagaland.

Team Leader, NEPED & Commissioner & Secretary, Government of

Nagaland, Amandeep S.Bhatia, IAS delivered the welcome speech, key-note address was given by J.V. Sharma, TERI.

R. TOHANBA STRESSES ON IMPORTANCE OF TRAINING AT IPR OF- FICIALS ORIENTATION PROGRAMME

Training, especially in the field of journalism, is more important than ever today, said Parliamentary Secretary, IPR, R. Tohanba while speaking at the inaugural function of the two-days IPR orientation programme on communication and public relations on 24th July 2012 at Hotel Millenium, Kohima. He said that journalism is a constantly evolving profession and we need to constantly sharpen our skills and learn new ones. What we know today will become redundant tomorrow, he said further stating that there is certainly no room for those people who are complacent. Therefore it is crucial that trainings are held regularly so that we also educate ourselves and apply it in our day to day activities, he added.

Director, IPR, Imokokba in his keynote address said that the realm of communication has exploded and technological advancements are being made with mind-boggling speed. In view of the revolutionary change and growth in every sphere of life and mainly in communication, he said that the media plays a decisive role in the development of society. He said as IPR officials one cannot afford to remain ignorant of what is happening around the world in terms of communication strategies.

While it is a widely acknowledged fact that media is a communicator to the public, we have to remember that we are not only communicators of information, he said, adding that one major role is to explain how government programmes and policies have an impact on citizens. Communication of information is a vital process of sustaining good

WORKSHOP ON DATA DISSEMINATION

The Directorate of Census Operations conducted a one-day data dissemination workshop at Kohima on 26th July 2012. Thirty participants from 16 Government Departments in the level of Asst. Director and above and officers from Directorate of Census Operations attended the workshop. The objective of the workshop was to disseminate various data collected during the Houselisting and Population Census as well the ongoing Sample Registration System (SRS) with the aim of understanding and usage of data in critical planning and decision making and also to stress the importance of using facts and figures as the basis for Government departments in framing policies and formulating strategies for programs.

The Director of Census Operations gave a presentation on Strategic and demographic analysis, highlighting the dynamics of population data, the need to develop skills and knowledge to use population information in the planning process and to understand the impact of planning activities on the basis of population size, composition and distribution. She said that various schemes and planning are not very effective in Nagaland because policy planners tend to generalize the target section of people. She stated that if policies and welfare schemes are not planned according to the demographic needs of residents, (politically motivated), the gap between 'demand and supply' would eventually lead to a big gap in the development, which we are now seeing very clearly in some part of the State, adding that policies should ensure 'inclusive growth' in the State. She stated that data relating to all these sectors are readily available with the Census Directorate, while encouraging the various Governments Departments to take advantage of these data, adding that the Staff of Directorate of Census Operations are ready and willing to assist and provide the available data to policy planners anytime.

The program was chaired by Nungsang, DDCO while welcome address and Overview of Census was presented by the Director, Hekali Zhi-momi, IAS. Data highlights of population in Nagaland was presented by Imkongnungsang, ADCO and Presentations on Gender Composition and Child population, Literacy, Urbanization, Census house and its uses, Dwelling rooms and household sizes and amenities, and Assets were presented by officers of Directorate of Census Operations. Active discussion and deliberations was carried out during the workshop on the Data highlights which were presented. Many of the participants expressed how helpful the workshop has been and some participants stated that these Data will be used in the planning process for various projects in future. The workshop ended with vote of thanks by Lucy Tep, Data Dissemination Unit, In-charge.

CM AND COLLEAGUES ATTEND LONDON OLYMPICS

The Chief Minister of Nagaland, Neiphiu Rio accompanied by his colleagues visited London to witness the Olympic Games and the performance of Chekrovolu Swuro. The Chief Minister congratulated Chekrovolu for becoming the first Naga woman Olympian from Nagaland in more than sixty years after the first Naga Olympian Dr. T. Ao who participated as the captain of the Independent Indian Football team to the 1948 London Olympic. He wished her all success in the individual events and stated that her feat of reaching the highest level of the sports arena on the planet is a moment of pride and joy for the country and the people of Nagaland in particular. The Chief Minister also stated that her feat is an inspiration for each and every Naga to reach for the highest levels of excellence and also asserted that Chekrovolu has shown to all Nagas that it is possible to get there. The Chief Minister expressed confidence that her achievement will motivate and inspire the future generations of Nagas to excel in the international stage.

The Chief Minister announced an award of Rupees 25 lakhs to Chekrovolu for becoming an Olympian and further announced that Rupees one crore would be awarded to her if she wins any medal in the individual events. The Chief Minister interacted with Chekrovolu and her sister and brother-in-law in London and said that all Nagas are proud of her and wished her all the best in the individual events.

The Chief Minister, who is also the President of the Nagaland Archery Association and the Nagaland Olympic Association accompanied by Minister for Planning & Coordination, Veterinary & Animal Husbandry, T.R. Zeliang and Press Secretary to the Chief Minister & President Nagaland Athletic Association, Abu Metha was at the Lords Cricket Ground where the archery events are taking place and interacted with Chekrovolu, her family members and also Chekrovolu's former coach Byung-Sun Youn, who is from Korea and is presently the Secretary General of the Korea Archery Association.

AGRI & ALLIED DEPARTMENT DISTRIBUTES POST HARVEST MACHINERIES

Under the AGRONAG, the Agri & Allied departments distributed post harvest management machineries to 134 progressive farmers and entrepreneurs from different districts of the State at NSAMB Office Complex (NER Agri Expo Site) 4th mile, Dimapur on 12th July 2012.

Chief Minister Neelhiu Rio as the chief guest, who also released the Agri. & Allied Departments Document Vision 2025 - Food for All, congratulated the department and said that this could be achieved only if people start working and further assured all help from the Corpus Fund to support young entrepreneurs.

Calling upon the agri-graduates to take a lead and promote farming in the State, the Chief Minister said the government can only facilitate and support them and challenged the youths, the educated unemployed to come forward and fill the gap.

Stating that 71% of the State's population are engaged in farming who are contributing only 20% of the GDP in agri and allied sectors. He therefore said that to increase productivity, farmers need to adopt modernized and scientific methods of farming. Rio said that there are 65,000 educated unemployed youth registered in the Employment Department waiting for white-collared jobs. However, in a year Government job availability will be only 1000 as Nagaland is the highest employer in the government all over the country, he said adding that government jobs has reached a saturation point.

The Chief Minister also stated that 65% is spent on administration cost and only 35% is there for developmental activities, while disclosing that the State Government's administrative cost cannot go beyond 35% but it has already crossed 65%.

Minister of Agriculture, Dr. Chumben Murry in his short speech said that since the establishment of Scientific Agriculture Department in the State half a century ago, the department has been disseminating scientific agriculture methodology and has achieved good progress in production and productivity. However, in terms of the State's economie scenario, it does not have enough for self reliance and said that the perspective of our farmers need to change from that of primitive method to scientific method.

To become economically self reliant, he opined that we need to think scientifically and plan our productivity by 7-8 times more than the current plan. With proper planning in land, soil and water management we can produce more, he said. He also said that there is urgent need to start reducing and slowly replacing jhum cultivation with more settled scientific form of cultivation to benefit the state. He also said that the state government is putting serious efforts on meat, poultry, dairy and fish production.

The programme was chaired by APC & Principal Secretary Agriculture, H. K. Khulu and vote of thanks was delivered by Additional Director Agriculture E.H. Lotha. The Chief Minister was accompanied by Parliamentary Secretaries, Y. Patton, R. Khing, R. Tohanba, W. Kithan and MLA Toshipokba.

KABA PROVIDES BORE WELL TO IMDH

Dr. Imkongliba Memorial District Hospital, Mokokchung which provides health care to both in and out patients not only to people of Mokokchung district but also to neighbouring districts for the past 108 years will no longer face scarcity of water supply. Henceforth the hospital will have sufficient water with the commissioning of a bore well in the hospital. With the ca-capacity of pumping 800 to 10,000 liters per hour, a bore well was constructed for the IMDH by Kohima Ao Baptsit Church (KABA) under Outreach Mission project of the KABA at the cost of about Rs. 9 lakhs.

The much needed Bore well in the hospital was dedicated by KABA Pastor, Rev. M. Asangba for 'the glory of God' and for the needy people in the hospital on 19th July 2012.

At a short dedicatory function held in the conference hall of IMDH one of the KABA Outreach Mission Project members Impalong said KABA took a decision to do a project at IMDH in 2010 and finally it had decided to construct a bore well as the hospital was often facing shortage of the basic need water. He said a reputed firm was invited to do the job and the job was completed on time. Deputy Chief Medical Officer, Dr Akaba in his short speech thanked the KABA for their contribution and suggested to the IMDH that water supply connection to TB hospital should be considered urgently stating that there was no proper water supply to TB hospital.

Ao Seden, Mokokchung Town

Pastors Fellowship who also spoke at the function deeply appreciated the yeomen service of KABA and assured that they would also extend cooperation towards further improvement of IMDH even though it is a government Hospital. Dr. I. Bendangla MS. IMDH, who chaired the function, said doctors and staff of IMDH were reminded to do their duties with greater zeal following generous contributions they received from KABA and many other NGOs and churches for betterment of IMDH.

SENSITIZATION PROGRAMME ON DENGUE FEVER HELD AT DIMAPUR

The Department of Health & Family Welfare in co-ordination with Dimapur Municipal Council (DMC) held a sensitization programme on Dengue Fever for chairmen and GBs under Dimapur Municipal Area at DMC Office Complex on 21st July 2012.

Zonal Entomologist Dr. Atu Longkumar in his chairman remark said that diseases such as malaria, CEO DMC, Intirentla speaking at the sensitisation programme on Dengue Fever for Chairmen and GBs at DMC office complex on 21st July 2012.

Japanese encephalitis (JE) and Dengue are caused by Mosquito borne diseases. He said that the dengue being the foremost problem among the three, the infected patient would have a symptom of mild fever and disappear after one week or after ten days, however, the severely infected person would have bleeding gum, nose and stools. He informed that there are about three official reports of death cases due to dengue; however, there is unreported case, he also added that dengue diseases can be prevented if we keep our surrounding clean.

Chief Executive Officer (CEO) DMC Intirenla while speaking as the chief guest said that the month of July is being observed as Anti- dengue month all over India and other parts of the world as "Dengue Day". She reaffirmed that DMC will play a pivotal role to disseminate awareness to the public and also provide all logical support to the Department for the successful implementation of the programme in the district. While reminding the public to have civic sense to keep our city clean, Intirenla also appealed to the cairmen and GBs for co-operation for successful implementation of the programme.

Dy. CMO, Dimapur, Dr. Ritu in his short speech said that National Vector Borne Diseases (NVBDCP) deals on five diseases such as malaria, falciasiasis, kalagar, dengue hemorrhage fever (DHF) and Japanese encephalitis (JE). He added that creating awareness on different national programme is important because the responsibility of the department is to provide comprehensive health care delivery system to the masses as public health care system is important to reduce morbidity and mortality rate to obtain optimum health for vibrant society. It was also informed in the programme that all the 23 wards and colonies will conduct mass social work on July 21, 2012 followed by phase wise medical and poster campaign.

AIR QUALITY STATUS OF DIMAPUR CITY DURING THE YEAR 2010 & 2011

Nagaland Pollution Control Board had been monitoring the ambient air quality of Dimapur for the last 10 years in two stations located at Bank colony and Dhobinala. Four air pollutants are monitored and analyzed viz., Nitrogen dioxide (NO₂), Sulphur dioxide (SO₂), Respirable Suspended Particulate Matter (RSPM) and Suspended Particulate Matter (SPM). The monitoring of pollutants is carried out for 24 hours (4 hourly sampling for gaseous pollutants (NO₂ & SO₂) and 8 hourly sampling for particulate matter (RSPM & SPM)).

In the year 2011, the average concentration of Respirable Suspended Particulate Matter is highest in the month of January in both the stations i.e. Bank Colony (317) with 158 µg/m³ and Dhobinala (448) with 166 µg/m³ exceeding the permissible limit of 100 µg/m³. The lowest reading of Respirable Suspended Particulate Matter is recorded in the month of July with 20 µg/m³.

The gaseous pollutants i.e. Nitrogen dioxide (NO₂) and Sulphur dioxide (SO₂) are within the permissible limits in both the stations. The data for the year 2010 & 2011 shows that the Respirable Suspended Particulate Matter for both the stations (illustrated in the graphs) slight variations except in the month of January 2011 in bank colony. While in the case of Dhobinala station the variations during the year 2011 is higher compared to 2010.

Both Respirable Suspended Particulate Matter and Suspended Particulate Matter concentration increases in dry season because the bad road condition; raises dust by the vehicular movement or wind and particulate matters don't settle down quickly. The increasing population and increased in number of automobiles and other small scale industries such as stone crushers, sand mahals, vulcanization, and improper waste management may be the other reasons for the increased air pollution.

The above records are taken from the permanent stations at Dhobinala and Bank colony, Dimapur City, and therefore variations will be there from colony to colony. However, the record definitely points to the fact that during dry season the air pollution, mainly dust particles are crossing the permissible limits and hence remedial measures such as improving the road, relocating polluting industries to outside the city limits, relocate sand mahals, better waste management, and maintaining green cover must be implemented to improve the ambient air quality of Dimapur city.

This was issued by the Member Secretary of Nagaland Pollution Control Board, Rusovil John.

SEXUALLY TRANSMITTED INFECTIONS ARE PREVENTABLE & CURABLE

HIV/AIDS is not curable but preventable.

What are Sexually Transmitted Infections?

- STIs are communicable diseases, which are transmitted by an infected male or female to his/her partner during unprotected sexual intercourse. For this reason, they are called Sexually Transmitted Infections.
- They are relatively easy to contract.
- Most STIs are easy to cure.
- If detected and treated early, they do not cause serious problems.
- On the other hand, if they are not detected and treated early, the infection may spread and cause complications.
- As 85% of HIV in India is transmitted by the sexual route, HIV is also an STI.

Symptoms of Sexually Transmitted Infections:

- Yellow/green discharge from penis or vagina.
- Pain/burning sensation when urinating.
- Lower abdominal pain.
- Painless ulcers on genitals or mouth and red rash all over the body.
- Swelling of genitals.
- Warts on and around sex organs.
- Small blisters at the site of infection, the mouth or the genitals.
- Urethral discharge
- Small, usually painful ulcers on or around the genitals organs.
