4. Avoid touching your eyes and nose.
5. Take plenty of fluids

He also said that during the last few years, the number of Jan Aushadhi stores has grown to more than 90,000 covering almost all the districts of the country. ### MID-TERM REVIEW OF NATIONAL HEALTH MISSION NAGALAND

The Mid-Term Review on the National Health Mission (NHM) for the State of Nagaland was held at Nirman Bhavan, Ministry of Health & Family Welfare, New Delhi on the 10th of March 2023 under the chairmanship of Additional Secretary & Mission Director, NHM, MoHFW Roli Singh, IAS, and State Team led by Y. Kikheto Sema, IAS Commissioner & Secretary, Health & Family Welfare.

During the meeting, Y. Kikheto Sema stated that, with the implementation of NHM, the overall improvement in the healthcare delivery service in the State is prominently visible, with the lowest IMR and MMR in the country, improvement in the children's immunization coverage, elimination phase of TB cases and Malaria cases and Leprosy cases eradication are some of the few achievements. However, Kikheto stated that over the period of years, only 50% of the approved budget by Gol could be availed due to delay in contributing State Share. He also stated that the short receipt of grants has not only affected the implementation of the programme but also the timely disbursement of staff salaries. Sema mentioned that there are more than 2000 employees under NHM with the requirement of about Rs. 70 crore annually. The fund received over the years is just sufficient for salary and resulted in huge committed liability created over the years.

Sema appealed to the MoHFW to consider the release of subsequent installments even with the pending State Share. Kikheto also requested to release the approved budget in two installments instead of the present practice of four installments for the small and hilly states particularly Nagaland for effective implementation of the programme.

On the non-utilization of XV FC grants for Urban and Rural Health Components for the FY 2021-22, Kikheto stated that since Nagaland is exempted from the purview of the 73rd Amendment of the Panchayati Raj Institution, the overall health sector is looked after by the Health & Family Welfare Department. However, since the fund was released to Urban and Rural Departments, the same could not be utilized to date. Sema stated that this matter has been discussed at the State Level Committee and that the grant is implemented by H&FW which is the Nodal Department.

The Additional Secretary & MD, NHM stated that XV FC Grants should be implemented by the H&FW Department of the State since it pertains to the Health Sector. She also agrees that smaller states like Nagaland would try to release the approved budget in two installments instead of four. The Ministry has by and large approved the proposal placed by the State Government, and advised the State Government to release the State Share in time to enable the Ministry to release the entire approved budget.

NLA DELIBERATES ON NAGALAND MUNICIPAL ACT, 2001:

Advocate-General, Nagaland, K.N. Balgopal gave a brief explanation and appraised the Members of the 14th Nagaland Legislative Assembly (NLA) on the Nagaland Municipal Amendment Act and the views of the Supreme Court on the floor of the house. He highlighted the provisions enshrined in the constitution pertaining to the Municipal Act and minutely elaborated the views and opinions of the Supreme Court in this regard vis-a-vis the implications and difficulties confronted by the State Government in conducting the ULB elections.

Minister, Power and Parliamentary Affairs, K. G. Kenye initiated the discussion on matters of urgent public importance pertaining to the Urban Local Bodies issue which was supported by MLA, Namri Nchang and seconded by Advisor, Kropol Vitsu.

Kenye remarked that the ULB issue is an ongoing issue confronting the Nagas for three decades. As the Act of parliament cannot be segregated, without realising it, successive governments tried to fulfil the aspirations of the people. Some proposals were rectified but the principles of the act could not be touched. A serious review has to be done on the Act, he opined. Basing on Article 371(A) he said that it will be best to have our own system to regulate in line with the Act. He said that women in Naga society are regarded as peacemakers in our society and privileges are accorded to them and so, reservations impact our Naga social practices. He further urged that it will be better to leave it to us to frame our own system in line with what is being laid down in the Act, citing example of the Ministry of Rural Development on which they have allowed the local bodies to go hand in hand with its laws and our Naga customary practices and systems and that liberty should be allowed with the Urban Local bodies as well, an Act framed by the Nagaland Government. In conclusion he pleaded the house to take consideration in repealing the Nagaland Municipal Act to suit with our existing social practices.

Deputy Chief Minister and Minister-in-Charge for Planning and Transformation, participating in the discussion, highlighted the whole scenario in chronological order on the proposed ULB elections, the civil society's disagreement to conduct the said election with 33% women reservation and the tax on land and buildings. He also highlighted in the events that followed the escalation of the law and order situation which caused loss of precious lives and damage of many government properties. Based on the events, he supported the move to repeal Nagaland Municipal Act, 2001.

MLA, Kuzholuzo (Azo) Nienu discussing on the Urban Local Bodies issue highlighted on the 2017 ULB election imbroglio. While extending his support for repeal of Nagaland Municipal Act, 2001, he called for enactment of an Act in consonance with the Naga customary and social practices. Advisor, Tribal Affairs, H Tovihoto Ayemi, Advisor, Land Resources, G. Ikuto Zhimomi, MLAs Nuklutoshi, Naiba Konyak, Limaonen Chang, Jwenga Seb, Dr. Neisatuo Mero, P. Longan on behalf of MLA, Namri Nchang also spoke and shared their desire for repeal of the Nagaland Municipal Act, 2001.

Chief Minister, Neiphiu Rio

participating in the discussion on matters of urgent public importance, stated that the elected members have to listen to the voice of the people and should not go against their wish. He highlighted on the series of events that had happened with regard to the conduct of ULB election. He stated that in spite of consultative meetings, there is stiff opposition from various sections of the society. He also shed a light on the various demands made by tribal Hohos and other organizations. Rio called for proper dialogue with all interest parties so that elections can be held with effective participation of the people. He also called for consideration for repeal of the Nagaland Municipal Act, 2001 in toto and move expeditiously for making a new Act keeping in mind the special privileges of the people of Nagaland in term of Article 371(A) of the Constitution.

RESOLUTION TO REPEAL THE NAGALAND MUNICIPAL ACT, 2001:

The full text of the resolution to repeal the Nagaland Municipal Act, 2001 that was passed unanimously on the last day of the 1st session of the 14th Nagaland Legislative Assembly is as follows:

‘The House has noted the stiff voices of opposition to the Urban Local Bodies Elections under the Nagaland Municipal Act, 2001 by the Tribal Bodies, Civil Society Organizations and every section of the society. The House has also taken note that the implementation of the Nagaland Municipal Act 2001 has always been fraught with much controversy due to the public perception that the Act runs contrary to the spirit of Article 371-A.

Unanimous Resolutions were passed by this House in the year 2012 exempting Nagaland from the provisions of Part IX A of the Constitution of India pertaining to 33% reservation for women in Municipalities and Town Councils. This said resolution however, was revoked by another resolution in the year 2016 by this House.

Then in December 2016, election programme was notified by the State Election Commission for elections to the ULBs, wherein the date of poll was scheduled on the 1st February 2017. There was, as we are all aware, wide spread agitation and bandhs declared all over the State by various Tribal Bodies/Hohos and organizations representing the various tribes of Nagaland. The Government was faced with a delicate law and order situation, where various government buildings were burned down and precious lives were also lost. The entire State machinery also came to a standstill for several weeks, as the organizations had called for closing down of all Government offices and banned plying of all Government vehicles during this period.

Considering the overall situation, the Government had to declare the election process to the ULBs as null and void. On 9th March 2022, a resolution was passed in the State Level Consultative Meeting wherein the various tribal bodies and other organizations were present in which it was resolved that the elections to the Urban Local Bodies (ULB) should be conducted as per the 74th Amendment Act of the Constitution of India. While the Government was gearing up for conducting the election various tribal bodies and other organizations passed resolutions for overhauling the Nagaland Municipal Act 2001 so that it is in consonance with the provisions of Article 371-A of the Constitution of India and till then boycotted/refused to participate in the Urban Local Bodies Elections. Meanwhile the Supreme Court of India had already given directions to go ahead with the elections. The Government in the meanwhile received reports about the law and order situation which could worsen with the passage of time in the event the elections are held without making the demanded changes.

Accordingly, the Cabinet met on two occasions to resolve the impasse. By the time it came to light that there will not be any participation in these elections owing to the boycott by all the Tribal Hohos and various organizations. The defining trait of law is its enforceability. If people are not willing to come forward to participate in the elections they cannot be compelled to do so. In these circumstances the Cabinet resolved to refer the matter to the Legislative Assembly for discussion.

The House has deliberated in the matter, and deems that the Urban Local Bodies election cannot be conducted unless the Nagaland Municipal Act 2001 is repealed.

The House unanimously resolves on this day, the 28th March 2023, that the Nagaland Municipal Act 2001 be taken up for repeal in toto with immediate effect, and to govern the Urban Local Bodies, law be enacted expeditiously which will take into consideration once and for all the grievances of all the interested parties so that the elections could be conducted in accordance to law.'

The resolution was considered and unanimously passed by the August House.

Section 6 (a) Ban on sale of Tobacco products to anybody below 18 years of age and Section 6 (b) Ban on sale of tobacco products within 100 meters of any educational institutions. The Department is also trying to invoke the provision of Section 77 of Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children Act 2015).
